MISSION

WIRE provides accessible innovative information, counselling and support services for Victorian women in need.

Operating within a feminist framework, WIRE is a service for women by women.

WIRE's operations are informed by the acknowledgment that women's lives are influenced by the social and economic environment in which they live.

WIRE strives to make a difference to women's everyday lives and struggles by enabling them to develop skills and knowledge necessary to increase control and decision making in their lives.

WIRE aims to be accessible to women across Victoria and to provide them with services of the highest possible quality, delivered in a way that acknowledges and validates their experiences.

WIRE considers the way it operates to be as important as the outcomes achieved. WIRE values co-operation and collaboration with all the women with whom it interacts.
